Thinking ahead

The sustainability of our lifestyle and its necessary balance with the environment needs concrete facts and tangible actions.

It is time to change small gestures that can revolutionise a way of life, and also our way of relating to the planet.

WaterForest products and solutions reduce water consumption, CO<sub>2</sub> emissions and environmental impact, and help achieve certifications such as Leed and Breeam to save up to 89% of water in sustainable residential projects.

Water Forest

89%

Water saving

Resource consumption is reduced by always keeping the flow limit at a fixed value of litres per minute regardless of the pressure, achieving up to 89% of water saved without the user noticing it.

Recycling

We are committed to the planet and the environment, substituting products such as wood for linen leftovers. We also include recycled materials in our products, without renouncing their resistance and quality properties.

Noken Eco-Flow

With the application of Noken Eco-Flow limiters, you can reduce the shower flow rate by up to 75%, without affecting the user's comfort.

Did you know that our products help you save up to 65% on water costs?

ECO-FLOW and ECO-START

Technologies such as the cold opening system always turn the tap on cold water, allowing hot water to be selected only when it is needed: less energy wasted and less CO<sub>2</sub> emissions from the use of heaters and boilers.

The ECO aerator limits the flow rate to a fixed value, independent of pressure, and saves up to 89% water.

Ventilated facades

Porcelanosa has devised a series of construction solutions to improve the enclosure and efficiency of buildings through the company Butech. This firm specialising in advanced technical solutions and professional advice has reinforced its innovation and research area to design new proposals and systems linked to the green transition and sustainable development.

This is the roadmap followed by its advanced ventilated façades and Offsite solutions, which, by improving the insulation of the building and facilitating air circulation within the envelope, save up to 25% of the cost of air conditioning.

The systems consists of a chamber or gap between the building envelope and the exterior cladding that reinforces the thermal and acoustic insulation of each project with minimal maintenance.

In addition, the use of External Access Flooring on roofs reduces air-conditioning costs and minimises the direct effect of solar incidence.
